Programme

Arrival via Medellín International Airport
Check-in, Hotels in Medellín

Monday, 9 November

Optional Programme:

19.00–22.00 Casual Welcome Reception for Early Arrivals
(Hotel Faranda Collection, Cl. 11B Sur #44 - 29, El Poblado)

Early arrivals are warmly invited to join an informal welcome reception ahead of the Horasis Global Summit. This relaxed evening offers an opportunity to meet fellow participants in a casual setting.

Tuesday, 10 November

Optional Programme:

10.00-13.00 Horasis Serendipity Walk: Paths of Reflection and Connection
Meet at 9.45 at the entrance of Jardín Botánico de Medellín, Cl. 73 #51D-14

Serendipity, the art of discovering meaning through unexpected encounters, often emerges when conversation is freed from formal settings. Set within the natural landscapes of Jardín Botánico, where lush gardens, open space, and tranquil surroundings invite reflection, this walk offers members of the Horasis community an opportunity to connect across perspectives while jointly Building Tomorrow. The experience concludes with a simple picnic-style lunch.

Optional Programme – the Universidad Nacional is located close to the Jardin Botánico:

14.00-18.00 Embassy of the Future: Returning from 2070 to Build Tomorrow (Universidad Nacional de Colombia, Cra. 65 #59A – 110, Aula Máxima de Ciencias Agrarias, bloque 11, 2° floor)

An immersive pre-summit gathering in collaboration with the Embassy of the Future, inviting participants to step beyond the present moment and explore possible worlds ahead. By imagining life in 2070 and tracing pathways back to today, this experience encourages fresh perspectives on the choices, values, and systems shaping our collective future. A stimulating and informal way to connect with fellow members of the Horasis Visions Community while setting the intellectual and emotional tone for the Horasis Global Summit, focused on how we can actively build a thriving tomorrow.

08.00-09.15 Sessions

Building the Tomorrow We Once Imagined (Room 1)

Ideas once confined to science fiction are rapidly becoming part of everyday life, reshaping how people work, create, and interact. The challenge lies in guiding these emerging technologies so they strengthen human dignity, equity, and sustainable ways of living. Which technologies are most likely to redefine daily life in the coming decades? How can societies ensure these breakthroughs contribute to collective flourishing?

- Veronika Cieslak, Postdoctoral Researcher, Adam Smith Center, USA
- Maria Alejandra Gonzalez-Perez, Professor of Sustainability, Universidad EAFIT, Colombia
- Hakan Güner, Chairman, United Partners, Türkiye
- Karolynn Halpert, Co-Founder and Chief Medical Officer, BioXcellerator, Colombia

- Mabel Gisela Torres Torres, Former Minister of Science, Technology and Innovation, Government of Colombia, Colombia

Chaired by

- Simone Kehler, Founder and Host, Female Empowerment – The Podcast, Paraguay

Building Resilient Economies for Tomorrow (Room 2)

Volatility, debt, demographic shifts, and trade fragmentation are converging to test the foundations of economic stability across regions. Resilient economies are increasingly those that combine fiscal discipline, institutional trust, and the capacity to adapt to repeated external shocks. How can economies strengthen resilience without sacrificing openness and growth? Which policy and investment choices matter most when preparing for tomorrow's uncertainties?

- Javier Arreola, Founder, Pleniio, Mexico
- Pedro Beirute, Co-Founder and Managing Partner, Vanquish Equity, Costa Rica
- Camila Erazo Gonzalez, Managing Director, Lumena Space, Colombia
- Livia Silva Louvel, Chief Executive Officer, GoGlobal Consulting, Brazil

- Andy Murphy, Founder, 8 Figure Thinker Performance Certification, USA
- Carol Helena Quevedo, Chief Executive Officer, Smart Advice, Colombia

Chaired by

- Raissa Octavio, Economist, Mercor, Brazil

Building Human-AI Partnership (Room 3)

Artificial intelligence is moving beyond tools toward systems that influence judgment, coordination, and strategic choice. Thriving societies will be those that design meaningful collaboration between human agency and machine intelligence. How can organizations ensure AI strengthens human responsibility rather than diluting it? What principles should guide the shared decision-making space between people and intelligent systems?

- Demian Astorga, Director General Colombia and Ecuador, TCS, Ecuador
- Paula Marcela Gallego, Founder, PG Advisory, Colombia
- Oscar Giraldo, Founder, Soberan, Colombia
- Aline Frimm Krieger, Founding Partner, Frimm Krieger Advogados, Brazil
- Tháila Maschio, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, Digital Fácil, Brazil
- Chenna Rayudu, Founder and Managing Director, Infospoke Integrated Solutions, India

Chaired by

- Julio Salgado, Chief Executive Officer, SwissHelios, Switzerland

Building Trust Across Borders (Room 4)

Strategic rivalry, disinformation, and diverging values are eroding the confidence that once underpinned international cooperation. Trust is emerging as a decisive currency shaping trade, diplomacy, and collective problem-solving. How can trust be rebuilt between nations facing deep political and economic divergence? What new forms of cooperation can endure in an era of persistent geopolitical tension?

- Pallavi Ahluwalia, Owner and Attorney, Ahluwalia Law Offices, USA
- Klaus Hepp, Chairman, KFH Services, Brazil
- Ligia Mello, Chief Strategy Officer, Hibou Insights, Brazil
- David Padilla, Founder, Fideleg, Ecuador
- David Rojas, Chief Executive Officer, Intexus, Colombia
- Marcela Sánchez, Managing Partner and Co-Founder, GFMP.SAS, Colombia

Chaired by

- Alec Wang, Founder and President, Tana Investment Group, USA

Building Inclusive Societies (Room 5)

Economic progress increasingly coexists with social fragmentation, inequality, and declining confidence in institutions. Societies that thrive are those that integrate opportunity, dignity, and participation into their development models. What policies most effectively translate growth into shared prosperity? How can social cohesion be strengthened in increasingly diverse and polarized societies?

- Elizabeth Burkhalter, Founder, Embera Bead Project, Colombia
- Daniela Konietzko Calero, President, Fundación WWB Colombia, Colombia
- Adriana Cardenas, Executive Director, Fundación Llevando Esperanza, Colombia

- Ángela Suárez Alvarez, President, iCon, Colombia

Chaired by

- Giselle Alers, Chief Executive Officer, Global Creative Economy, USA

Building Planetary Health for Future Generations (Room 6)

Climate instability, ecosystem degradation, and resource scarcity are reshaping the conditions for human development. Long-term prosperity depends on restoring balance between economic ambition and the natural systems that sustain life. How can climate action be accelerated while supporting development and livelihoods? What cooperative approaches best align planetary health with economic resilience?

- Christian Dannecker, Co-Founder, Terra Impact Ventures, Switzerland
- Andrea Mejia Fajardo, Chief Knowledge Officer, CIRCULATAM, Colombia
- Rich Holman, Business Advisor, Longevity Clinical Institute Medellin, Colombia

- Elena Zuria, Founder, Grupo Blues, Brazil

Chaired by

- Jasmin Cowin, Associate Professor, Touro University, USA

Building Innovation Ecosystems (Room 8)

Innovation flourishes where talent, capital, regulation, and culture reinforce one another. Thriving ecosystems are increasingly networked, inclusive, and connected across borders. What conditions allow innovation ecosystems to grow beyond local success? How can emerging regions foster innovation without reproducing fragile or extractive models?

- Diana Gaviria, Chief Executive Officer, Connect Bogota, Colombia
- Juan Camilo González, Chief Executive Officer and Co-founder, Figuro, Colombia
- Carlos Andres Jaramillo, Director of Innovation, Grupo UMA, Colombia
- Ana María Moreno, Director, Centre for the Fourth Industrial Revolution Medellín, Colombia
- Juan Pablo Ortega, Chief Executive Officer, VIU Agency, Colombia

Chaired by

- Paulo Mendes, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, Pharus, Portugal

Building Intergenerational Prosperity (Room 9)

Demographic change and wealth concentration are reshaping social contracts across societies. Long-term prosperity depends on balancing present consumption with future opportunity. How can economic systems better reflect intergenerational responsibility? What financial and governance tools support durable prosperity across decades?

- Ligia Coelho, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, VEZZ Mobilidade Urbana, Brazil

- Jorge Robledo, Professor of Innovation, Universidad Nacional de Colombia, Colombia

Chaired by

- Tony Cho, Founder, Cho Ventures, USA

Building Medellín's Innovation Economy (Room 12)

Once defined by crisis, Medellín has spent two decades rebuilding itself into one of Latin America's most cited examples of innovation-led urban transformation, anchored by public-private institutions that connect entrepreneurship, research, and capital. As the city now competes for global investment and talent alongside more established regional hubs, its next phase will depend on translating institutional coordination into sustained venture creation and capital depth. What has made Medellín's model of innovation governance distinctive, and which elements are most replicable elsewhere? What does the city still need to compete for the next generation of high-growth companies?

- Agostinho Joao Ramalho De Almeida, Chief Innovation Officer, Grupo Energía Bogotá, Colombia
- Nora del Carmen Arango Tabares, Director, Acopi Antioquia, Colombia

- Daniel Umana, President and Chief Executive Officer, DUE Capital, Colombia
- Valentin Sierra Arias, Director, Dapper, Colombia

Chaired by

- Loren Moss, Publisher, Finance Colombia, USA

Building Mental Health Infrastructure for the AI Era (Room 14)

As millions turn to AI chatbots for emotional support, building tomorrow's mental health infrastructure demands honest scrutiny of what these tools can and cannot responsibly do. Behind the promise of scalable, always-available care lies a harder truth: today's AI systems are not clinically equipped to replace human judgment, and their uncritical use with vulnerable individuals carries real and underexamined risks. Where should the line be drawn between AI as a supportive tool and AI as a substitute for professional mental health care – and who should be responsible for enforcing it? What safeguards must be built into AI systems, and into the policies governing them, to protect vulnerable users from harm when these tools fail, mislead, or are misused?

- Felipe Jaramillo Vélez, Founder, Aún Humanos, Colombia
- Sandra Hernández, Bridges Builder for Innovation Initiatives, Colombia
- Santiago Jiménez Londoño, Professor, School of Applied Sciences, EAFIT University, Colombia
- Daniel Restrepo Soto, Founder and Director, Tenemos Que Hablar, Colombia

- Juan Simón Salazar, Co-Founder and Chief Executive Officer, hackU, Colombia
- Rafael Uribe, President, inWork HR, Colombia

Chaired by

- María Paula Cabrera, General Manager, IGL Latam, Colombia

Building Tomorrow's Green Technologies (Room 6)

Clean energy, climate tech, and resource-efficient systems are becoming central to economic competitiveness and security. Their success depends on scaling innovation while managing cost, infrastructure, and social acceptance. What barriers continue to slow the deployment of green technologies? How can public policy and private capital work together to accelerate impact?

- Paula André, Founder, Credita Carbon, Brazil
- Mauricio Cardenas-Piñeros, Executive President, Latin American Green Chamber of Commerce, Colombia
- GK Reid, Chief Communications Officer, Open Origin, USA
- Federico Restrepo, Co-Founder, Energia Vectorial, Colombia
- Paola Santiago, Co-Founder, Solé, Colombia
- Tomás Villamil Parodi, Chief Executive Officer and Founder, Kaptar Sistemas Circulares, Colombia

Chaired by

- Abby Seneor, Chief Executive Officer and Co-Founder, Treelyon, France

Rebuilding Global Value Chains (Room 7)

Global value chains are being reshaped by tariffs, trade disputes, geopolitical tension, and technological change. Building resilient supply networks for tomorrow requires balancing efficiency with security, transparency, and regional diversification. How can supply chains adapt to prolonged trade friction without fragmenting global markets? What forms of cooperation can reduce vulnerability and stabilize cross-border trade in a more protectionist environment?

- Sertan Ayçiçek, Chairman, Royal Funds, Switzerland
- Lina Ceballos, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, Partner Brand, Colombia
- Dia Martin, Managing Director, U.S. International Development Finance Corporation, USA
- Jorge A. Rave, Vice President & Head for the Americas, Export Development Canada (EDC), Canada
- Nelson Rodríguez Hernández, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, Waruwa, Colombia
- Gonzalo Sanchez Portela, Chief Executive Officer, Center Group, Colombia
- Carolina Tenorio, Country Manager Colombia, IDH, Colombia

Chaired by

- Carolina Halladin, Founder and Chair, Halladin Trade Advisory, Poland

Computing Tomorrow: Beyond Today's Limits (Room 8)

Advances in quantum computing and other frontier technologies promise new ways of solving complex problems across science, security, and industry. Their development raises questions about readiness, governance, and strategic advantage. How close are these technologies to practical deployment? What preparations are needed to integrate them responsibly into economic systems?

- Filipe Baeta, Co-founder and Chief Executive Officer, Laboratório Secreto, Colombia
- Shadab Hussain, Co-Founder, Quantum Computing India, India
- Syed Hasan Jafar, Vice Dean, Woxsen University, India
- Vivian Mattuella, Founder and President, Solv Marketing, Brazil
- Mauricio Mendez, Chief Technology Officer, Imix, Colombia

Chaired by

- Ramiro Valderrama-Aramayo, Head Strategic Initiatives Latin America, Axon, USA

Entrepreneurship and Thriving Societies (Room 9)

Entrepreneurs increasingly address challenges that extend beyond markets into social and environmental domains. Their contribution to tomorrow's societies depends on ecosystems that reward long-term value creation rather than short-term disruption. How can entrepreneurship strengthen systemic resilience for tomorrow? What conditions allow purpose-driven ventures to scale sustainably over time?

- Juan David Bolivar Vargas, Founder, Kaleido, Colombia
- Marcelo Burbano, Managing Partner and Co-founder, Prismapar, Colombia
- Aparupa Chakravarti, Head of Business Intelligence, IC Publications, Kenia
- Juan Manuel España, Co-Founder and Chief Executive Officer, Evolti, Colombia
- Jorge Londoño-Saldarriaga, Chairman, Museo de Antioquia, Colombia
- Eder Holguin, Chief Revenue Officer, Interactive Offers, USA
- Mateo Ruiz Espinosa, Chief Executive Officer, Infovital, Colombia

Chaired by

- Nicholas Johnson, Chief Economist, Economists Without Borders, Australia

Coffee, Climate and the Cup of Tomorrow (Room 10)

From origin to cup, the coffee industry has pioneered sustainable trade longer and more seriously than any other globally traded agricultural commodity, with technology, finance tools, and farmer partnerships now delivering results that would have been unimaginable a decade ago. As climate pressure mounts and scrutiny of global supply chains intensifies, coffee's hard-won model is drawing attention far beyond the sector. How does coffee use this moment to set the standard that every other traded commodity can follow? And what combination of market reform, climate adaptation, and inclusive finance will determine whether that standard is built to last?

- Tim Bennett, President, ColomBean Coffee, USA
- Álvaro Gaitán, Director, Federación Nacional de Cafeteros, Colombia
- Luis Miguel González, Chief Executive Officer and Co-founder, Tecde.ai, Colombia
- Pedro Manga, Prosperity and Impact Advisor, Colombia
- Carlos Andres Ramirez, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, NeuraAgro, Colombia
- Felipe Sardi, Co-Founder and Chief Executive Officer, La Palma & El Tucán, Colombia

Chaired by

- Luis F. Samper, Founder and President, 4.0 Brands, Colombia

Preparing for Longer Lives (Room 11)

Medical innovation and rising life expectancy are extending longevity and reshaping how societies organize work, care, and public finances. Building sustainable foundations for tomorrow's societies depends on improving access, prevention, and health systems that support longer, healthier lives. How will increased longevity transform labor markets and social structures? Which innovations can improve health outcomes while keeping long-term costs under control?

- Mia Ochoa, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, Reviv Clinic, Colombia
- Arletty Pinel, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, Genos Global, Panama
- Santiago Rodriguez, Co-founder, HealthTech Colombia, Colombia
- J. Camilo Ruiz, Director, A Piece of Pie, Colombia
- Catalina Santana, Chief Executive Officer, 101ideas, Colombia
- Katja Speck, Founder, DigitalMarketExpert, Germany
- José J. Vergara, Medical Advisor for Public Health Programs, Colombia

Chaired by

- Alain Bindels, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, Basel Forum, Switzerland

Technology Serving Humanity: AI, Dignity and the Common Good (Room 12)

Pope Leo XIV's May 2026 encyclical Magnifica Humanitas – the first on AI – reframed a question tech has struggled to answer: who decides what values AI serves, and for whom? Drawing on Rerum Novarum, he argued AI is never neutral, warned against its concentration in few hands, and called for governance rooted in human dignity and shared responsibility, not just efficiency and profit. Can a moral framework like this - faith-based or secular – offer the ethical foundation technical regulation has failed to provide? How can societies ensure AI serves the common good rather than deepening inequality and eroding human agency?

- Nini Johana Marín-Rodríguez, Vice Rector of Education, Universidad de Medellín, Colombia
- Johana Vásquez Velásquez, Vice-Rector, Universidad Nacional de Colombia, Colombia
- Jasson Alberto de la Rosa Isaza, Rector, IU Digital de Antioquia, Colombia
- Fr. Diego Alonso Marulanda Díaz, President, Colombian Network of Catholic Universities (RUCC); Rector, Universidad Pontificia Bolivariana, Colombia
- Luisa Navarro, Co-Founder, PorContar, Colombia
- Fr. Sergio Iván Rojas Díaz, Rector General, Universidad de San Buenaventura, Colombia

Chaired by

- Mario Alberto Luna Del Risco, Professor, Universidad de Medellín, Colombia

Digital Currencies and Tomorrow's Finance (Room 13)

Digital currencies are moving from the margins toward the core of financial systems, influencing payments, capital flows, and monetary sovereignty. Building reliable financial foundations for tomorrow will depend on how regulation, infrastructure, and market trust evolve alongside innovation. How will digital currencies reshape financial stability, inclusion, and cross-border transactions? What strategies help governments, institutions, and investors manage risk while capturing long-term value?

- Gabriel Amorocho, Co-Founder and Chief Operating Officer, E-CHARGE, Colombia
- Lucas Chaquea, Head of LATAM, Reap, USA
- Daniel Marin, Cofounder, Glik, Colombia
- Esteban Giraldo, Chief Executive Officer, Be Kind Network, Colombia
- Petr Krovina, Chief of Staff, Free Republic of Liberland, Liberland
- K Naresh Kumar, Co-Founder, Wealocity, India
- Camilo Suarez, President, Asoblockchain, Colombia

Chaired by

- Rodrigo Pinilla, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, Atorni, Colombia

Capital for Cultural Value (Room 14)

Impact investing is increasingly extending beyond traditional social and environmental sectors into the creative economy, recognizing culture, design, and the arts as legitimate engines of societal and economic value. Unlocking this potential requires new financing models and investor mindsets capable of valuing creative output alongside measurable impact, bridging a gap that conventional capital markets have often struggled to close. How can investors better evaluate and support ventures where creative and cultural value are central to impact? What financing structures can sustain creative enterprises while still delivering measurable social and financial returns?

- Carlos Artacho, President, SOMMA Corporation, Colombia
- Mario Gomez, Founder and Managing Partner, Ímpetu Ventures, Colombia
- Stephany Gomez, Co-Founder, Areito Gallery, Colombia
- Alejandro Matos Castro, Project Manager, Agencia Española de Cooperación Internacional para el Desarrollo, Spain
- Andres Ospina, Co-Founder, PitchDecks.com, USA
- Karina Sophia Vargas, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, Minka Artesanal, Colombia

Chaired by

- Gustavo Lopez Ghory, Chairman and Co-Founder, SmarterChains, Switzerland

15.30-16.00 Contact Break

16.00-17.30 Sessions

Colombia as a Long-Term Investment Horizon (Room 1)

Colombia offers scale, diversity, and long-term opportunity across energy, infrastructure, technology, and natural capital. Investor confidence increasingly depends on regulatory clarity, institutional strength, and alignment with sustainability priorities. How can Colombia strengthen its appeal to long-term investors? What signals most influence capital allocation decisions in an uncertain global environment?

- Eduardo Atehortua Barrero, Partner, Deloitte, Colombia
- Mauricio Buenaventura Ortiz, Partner, Heritage Financial Advisors, Colombia
- Angela Leonor Martinez, Co-Founder, Valorenz, Colombia
- Sergio Ramiro Cadavid, Private Equity Fund Coordinator, Impacta, Colombia
- Alejandro Rojas, Global Chief Capital Officer, Jota2 Group, Spain
- Simon Sjöberg, Chief Executive Officer, Luxus Global, Colombia
- Mark Gabriel Visconti, Managing Partner, VII Capital Funds, USA

Chaired by

- Michael Puscar, Co-founder, Puscar Buriticá Family Office, USA

The Far Tomorrow: Looking Toward 2126 (Room 2)

A century from now, humanity may inhabit a world shaped by radically different technologies, demographics, power structures, and relationships with nature. Thinking about the far tomorrow helps reveal which choices made today have consequences that extend far beyond current political and economic cycles. Which forces are most likely to shape the world in 2126? How can long-term thinking today influence outcomes that will define life for generations yet to come?

- Marco Barraza, Founder, Orange County CTOs, USA
- Carol J. Carter, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, GlobalMindED, USA
- Sara Ximena Gil, Co-Founder, OLGA HealthTech, Colombia
- Julián Gutiérrez Palacio, Chief Executive Officer, Grupo Nethexa, Colombia
- Anna Pietraszek, Professor of Marketing, Florida International University, USA
- Kevin Schaller, Founder, Schaller Design Group, Colombia

Chaired by

- Gary A. Bolles, Emeritus Chair for the Future of Work, Singularity University, USA

Governing Artificial Intelligence (Room 3)

As AI systems increasingly shape decisions at scale, questions of power, accountability, and trust are becoming practical governance challenges. The way societies govern artificial intelligence today will strongly influence economic performance, security, and social cohesion tomorrow. How can ethical principles be translated into enforceable rules for AI deployment? Which governance models best align innovation with public trust and long-term stability?

- Alex Cabrera, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, PREVSIS, Chile
- Andrés Mauricio Castro Figueroa, Dean, Universidad Piloto de Colombia, Colombia
- Alexandra Delsol, Founding Partner, A2 Legal, Venezuela
- Alberto González Mebarak, Chief Executive Officer, González Mebarak & Consultores Jurídicos, Colombia
- Rania Hoteit, Founder, ID4A Technologies, USA
- Gabriel Ibarra, Co-Founder and Managing Partner, Ibarra Rimôn – Signature Legal Group, Colombia
- Valeria Soler, Chief Executive Officer, Young AI Leaders Bogota, Colombia

Chaired by

- Eelco Fiole, Founder & Managing Partner, Alpha Governance Partner, Switzerland

Leadership Under Persistent Uncertainty (Room 4)

Leaders are operating in an environment shaped by prolonged geopolitical tension, rapid technological change, and shifting social expectations. Navigating this landscape requires leadership that balances strategic clarity with adaptability, while maintaining trust across organizations and stakeholders. Which leadership qualities are most critical when uncertainty becomes the norm rather than the exception? How can leaders strengthen institutional resilience and decision-making capacity over time?

- Ana Karina Arrazola, Co-Founder, Levante Consulting Group, Colombia
- Magen Baker, Vice President of Brand Strategy, Bell + Ivy, USA
- Anna Cave-Bigley, Chief Executive Officer and Co-Founder, The SABI, United Kingdom
- Juan Guayacan, Co-Founder, Orbit Labs, Colombia
- Daniel Levy, Director, Holoflow, Brazil
- Nicolás Mejía, Founder, Activate, Colombia

Chaired by

- Habib Paracha, Co-founder, Blinq Solutions, Pakistan

From the Fifth to the Sixth Industrial Revolution (Room 5)

The Fifth Industrial Revolution is already reshaping production through the convergence of AI, automation, robotics, and advanced manufacturing. A Sixth Industrial Revolution may follow, driven by breakthroughs in bio-engineering, intelligent materials, and energy-efficient systems that redefine productivity and competitiveness. How can industry convert this transition into sustained growth for tomorrow? Which policy frameworks and business models best support industrial renewal across regions?

- Santiago Cardona, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, Elio, Colombia
- Ciprian Dan Costea, Member of the Board, Autonova, Romania
- Andrés Cuervo, Co-Founder, Softwai, Colombia
- Gustavo Guevara, Founder and Chief Innovation Officer, Dymaxion, Colombia
- Sandra Rojas, Chief Strategy & Organizational Development Officer, CIDET, Colombia

Chaired by

- Nikolaos Mavridis, Startup Mentor, Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT), USA

The Social Contract in Transition (Room 6)

Trust between citizens, institutions, and markets is under strain as economic uncertainty, technological change, and political polarization reshape expectations. Renewing the social contract for tomorrow will depend on how societies rebalance fairness, participation, responsibility, and accountability across public and private actors. How can governance systems rebuild confidence without overpromising or overregulating? What roles should business, civil society, and institutions play in restoring durable social trust?

- Carlos Cadena, Associate Professor, Universidad EAFIT, Colombia
- Andrea Camargo, Founder, ReFi Collective, Colombia
- Daniel Castaño Zapata, Professor of Social Sciences, Universidad de Medellín, Colombia
- Edna Rodriguez, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, Aluna Sustainability, Colombia
- Felipe Bogotá Rodríguez, Executive Director, TerritoriA, Colombia
- Øystein Schjetne, Founder, Golden Colombia Foundation, Colombia

Chaired by

- Ana Echeverri, Managing Director, Ana Echeverri Consultoría, Colombia

Long-Term Thinking in a Short-Term World (Room 7)

Short-term decision-making, often driven by quarterly results and narrow shareholder value, increasingly undermines investment, resilience, and social stability. Building viable outcomes for tomorrow requires incentives, governance, and leadership models that reward long-term value creation over immediate gains. How can long-term perspectives be embedded into policy, finance, and corporate strategy? What mechanisms help leaders align today's decisions with tomorrow's economic and social realities?

- Michael Angarita, Partner, The Best Emeralds, Colombia
- Claudia Calderón C., Independent Board Member, Colombia
- Juan Alberto Calero, Managing Director, TRAMEC LatAm, Colombia
- Carolina Gil, Consultant, Spencer Stuart, Colombia
- Sara Mesa Velez, Podcast Host, Mentes Imparables, Colombia
- Alexandre Del Rey, Founder, Engrama, Brazil

Chaired by

- Ameer Ibrahim, Chairman, Future Governance Forum, United Kingdom

The Shape of Tomorrow's Global Economy (Room 8)

The global economy is entering a period marked by volatility, fragmentation, and structural transition. Economies that thrive will be those able to adapt while preserving openness and cooperation. Which forces are most likely to reshape global growth over the next decade? How can policymakers and businesses prepare for prolonged economic uncertainty?

- Aziz Ahmad, Chief Executive Officer, UTC Associates, USA
- Julius Cardoso, Founding Partner, 11Pier Capital, USA
- Cristian Halaby, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer, BYCSA, Colombia
- Asif Iqbal, President, IETO, India
- Cynthia Johnson, Co-Founder and Chief Executive Officer, Bell + Ivy, USA
- Matthias Krug, Chief Executive, Solven Partners, Switzerland

Chaired by

- Pieter Perrett, Professor, University of Applied Sciences Northwestern Switzerland, Switzerland

Redefining the Human in a Technological Age (Room 9)

As AI and automation take over cognitive and physical tasks once considered uniquely human, societies are being pushed to reassess skills, purpose, and identity. The way humans adapt to this shift will shape work, education, creativity, and social cohesion tomorrow. Which human capabilities will become more valuable as machines advance? How can education and institutions evolve to strengthen human agency rather than diminish it?

- Jesse Anderson, Founder, IdealLead.ai, USA
- David Camilo Baquero, Chief Executive Officer, Mobi Charge, Colombia
- Marcela Chiaratti, Partner, ERN, Brazil
- Laura Herrera, Founder, The Irreplicable Lab, Spain

- Nur Yijan Navarro, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, StylistAI Inc, Colombia
- Joanna Prieto, Futurist and Strategic Advisor, Colombia

Chaired by

- Daphne Laan, Founder, Planetir, The Netherlands

Creating Tomorrow's Unicorns (Room 10)

The next generation of unicorns will emerge from founders who combine technology, execution, and market timing in a more disciplined funding environment. Building companies that scale globally now requires stronger fundamentals, smarter capital, and ecosystems that support long-term growth rather than rapid valuation alone. What conditions enable startups to scale into resilient global leaders? How can investors, policymakers, and entrepreneurs shape environments that produce sustainable unicorns for tomorrow?

- Carlos Garcia, The Godfather Of Traffic, AmplifAI DSP, Colombia
- Carlos Granada, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer, Zelery-Med Corporation, USA
- Lina Morales, Executive Director, HealthTech Colombia, Colombia
- Sebastián Orozco Rendón, Chief Executive Officer, KUNO – Grupo Agenciauto, Colombia
- Camilo Quiceno, Founder, GEO Grafismos, Colombia
- Mónica Sánchez Álvarez, Director, Medellín Health City Cluster, Medellín Chamber of Commerce, Colombia
- Julia Santos, Founder, Contadora Cripto, Brazil

Chaired by

- Santosh Kaveti, Chief Executive Officer and Founder, ProArch, USA

Philosophy for Tomorrow: Rethinking Meaning in an Age of AI (Room 11)

Classical schools of philosophy – from liberal humanism and utilitarianism to existentialism and postmodern thought – have shaped how societies understand ethics, freedom, and progress. Yet many of these frameworks struggle to offer practical guidance in a world defined by artificial intelligence, systemic uncertainty, and accelerating technological change. Which philosophical traditions remain relevant for navigating tomorrow's challenges, and which are reaching their limits? What new schools of thought might emerge to help humans find meaning, agency, and responsibility in an AI-shaped future?

- Laura María Ayala Rodriguez, Co-Founder, Exponencial / Laboratorio de Futuros, Colombia
- Jonathan Echeverri Alvarez, Professor of Philosophy, Universidad EAFIT, Colombia
- Michael Haiden, Research Associate in Philosophy, University of Hohenheim, Germany
- Luciana Sakellariou, Founder, Coheron, Greece
- David Sumiacher D'Angelo, Director General, CECAPFI Internacional, Mexico
- Kenny Tung, Founder and Chief Strategy Officer, In-Gear Legalytics, Hong Kong SAR

Chaired by

- Lou Marinoff, Professor of Philosophy, The City College of New York, USA

Learning from History to Shape Tomorrow (Room 12)

Periods of transformation in the past – from industrial revolutions to geopolitical realignments – offer valuable insight into how societies adapt to disruption. Understanding what has endured, what failed, and why can help leaders avoid repeating mistakes as the world enters another phase of structural change. Which historical turning points offer the most relevant lessons for today's challenges? How can historical perspective inform decisions that will shape tomorrow's economic, political, and social order?

- Katerina von Baudissin, Senior Advisor, Public Financial Management & Governance, Norway
- Famor Botero, Chairman, Famorpictures, USA
- Mario Duragic, Advisor, Presidency of Bosnia and Herzegovina, Bosnia and Herzegovina
- Felix Söhnholz, Partner, Lynceus Law Firm, Colombia
- Santiago Uribe, Co-Founder, Azimut Energía, Colombia

Chaired by

- Juliana Ramalho, Chief Executive Officer and Founder, Talento Sênior, Brazil

Women: The Tech Leaders of Tomorrow (Room 13)

As AI and emerging technologies reshape economies at unprecedented speed, a new generation of women engineers, founders, and technical leaders is stepping forward to shape how these systems are built and deployed. Their rise signals a shift not only in who leads tomorrow's technology, but in how thoughtfully and inclusively it is designed. What will it take to accelerate the pipeline of women moving into technical leadership and deep-tech funding? How can companies, investors, and educators ensure women are shaping the AI era as builders, not just participants?

- Luzcenit Acosta-Guio, Founder, Arakue, Colombia
- Sarah Dong, Managing Partner, CEO Clubs Network, China
- Tajana Gudenus, Chief Executive Officer and Founder, Go&Grow Digital, Austria
- Jamilah Mena, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, Nemeri Ventures, USA
- Ivette Chalela Naffah, Independent Board Member, Investor & Co-Founder, Mexico

- Giovana Romero, Co-Founder, Innovus, Colombia

Chaired by

- Juliana Cabrejo Porras, Co-Founder and Managing Director, Latinoamerica Business Center, UAE

Cultural Practices that Keep Us Connected to Our Humanity (Room 14)

As our lives become increasingly digital, embodied cultural practices - from handwriting and craftsmanship to gardening, cooking and the arts - offer important ways of preserving attention, creativity and human connection. By engaging our senses and reconnecting us with traditions, everyday rituals and one another, these practices may provide a vital counterbalance to technological acceleration and help cultivate more empathetic and resilient societies. How can we preserve the cultural practices that keep us grounded and connected as more of our lives move into the digital realm? What might we lose if efficiency and technology increasingly replace embodied human experience?

- Tomas Antolinez, Youth Leader, Expert in Multilateral Negotiations, Colombia
- Lina Henao, Author, Poetry Award Winner, Colombia
- Felipe Roa Clavijo, Research Director, Oxford University, United Kingdom
- Maria Clara Mejia, Interior Architect & Orchids Cultivation Aficionada, Colombia
- Juliana Restrepo, Director of Science Engagement, Parque Explora, Colombia
- Marianne Schaller, Director, Artesanias de Colombia, Colombia
- Juan David Vélez, Director, Medellín Book Events, Colombia

Chaired by

- Johanna A. Zuleta, Founder and Director, La Zuleta, United Kingdom

17.30-18.30 Plenary: Steering the Technological Age (Theatre)

Artificial intelligence, digital infrastructure, and frontier technologies are reshaping productivity, security, and global competitiveness. As technological capabilities accelerate, outcomes will depend less on invention itself and more on how societies steer deployment, governance, and integration at scale. How can technology be directed toward sustained economic and strategic advantage? What governance principles are needed when innovation moves faster than institutions and regulation?

- Cordell Carter, Founder, The Festival of the Diaspora, USA
- Jerry Hultin, Chief Executive Officer, Global Futures Group; Former US Under Secretary of the Navy, USA
- Raj Nandwani, Chairman, Artha Institute, UAE
- Nima Schei, Founder, Hummingbirds.Ai, USA

Chaired by

- Jessica Brice, Senior Investigative Reporter, Bloomberg News, USA

18.30-19.30 Plenary: Power, Peace and the Future of Global Order (Theatre)

Geopolitics is increasingly shaped by power competition, military deterrence, and the belief that stability emerges through strength and strategic dominance. At the same time, enduring peace remains fragile where order relies primarily on coercion rather than legitimacy, cooperation, and shared rules. Can peace built on strength alone deliver lasting stability in a fragmented world? What alternative frameworks can reduce conflict while acknowledging the realities of power and national interest?

- Sadhvi Bhagawati, Secretary-General, Global Interfaith WASH Alliance, India
- Martín Burt, Founder and Executive Director, Fundación Paraguaya, Paraguay
- Sekai Holland, Former Minister; Chairperson, Zimbabwe Peacebuilding Initiative, Zimbabwe
- Indrani Pal-Chaudhuri, Founder, Open Origin, USA

Chaired by

- Rhett Power, Forbes Columnist & Chief Executive Officer, Accountability Inc, USA

19.30-22.00 Dinner Reception: The Spirit of Horasis, the Spirit of Medellín
(Gardens, Universidad de Medellín)

Gathering in the gardens of the Universidad de Medellín, we celebrate a city shaped by transformation, innovation and cultural vitality, and the spirit of Horasis, which for two decades has fostered open exchange and global cooperation. In this relaxed setting, participants can reconnect, exchange ideas and build new relationships across borders and sectors. The evening offers a moment to reflect on the conversations of the day while laying the groundwork for the partnerships that will help build tomorrow.

20.30-21.30 Dinner Reception: Women Building Tomorrow (Theatre, Universidad de Medellín)

This special gathering celebrates women's leadership, bringing together participants of the Horasis Global Summit for an informal exchange across business, government, academia and civil society. Welcoming both women leaders and those who support their advancement, it offers a space to connect, share perspectives and build relationships among those committed to shaping more inclusive organizations, economies and societies around the world.

Hosted by

- Valentina Jordan, Chief Executive Officer, Nauta, USA

With

- Rosalia Arteaga, Former President of Ecuador, Ecuador
- Sadhvi Bhagawati, Secretary-General, Global Interfaith WASH Alliance, India

07.30-08.45 Sessions

Governing Tomorrow: Rethinking Democracy and Power (Room 1)

From Plato's doubts about rule by the many to today's renewed debate over authority, efficiency, and popular consent, governance models are again under pressure. In an era marked by polarization, strong executive power, and impatience with institutions, societies are questioning whether existing forms of democracy remain fit for tomorrow. Which models of governance best balance legitimacy, effectiveness, and accountability in times of disruption? How can democratic systems evolve to deliver long-term stability without drifting toward rule by impulse or force?

- Slendy Diaz, Circular Economy Expert, Colombia
- Alvaro Jaramillo, President, Colegio de Abogados Rosarista, Colombia
- María Camila Chala Mena, Co-Founder and Director, Ágora: Laboratorio Político, Colombia
- Nicolas Diaz, Executive Director, Extituto de Política Abierta, Colombia
- Charles Tang, Chairman, Brazil-China Chamber of Commerce & Industry, Brazil
- Andrés Felipe Vera Ramírez, Director, SIRA, Colombia

Chaired by

- Mariana Palau, Founder, Empírico, Colombia

The World on the Edge of Multiple Crises (Room 2)

Geopolitical rivalry, climate stress, technological disruption, and economic volatility are unfolding simultaneously, reinforcing one another rather than occurring in isolation. The ability to build tomorrow will depend on how societies assess trade-offs, allocate attention, and act under sustained pressure rather than episodic shocks. Which global risks require immediate, coordinated response, and which demand long-term structural adjustment? How can leaders distinguish between short-term turbulence and deeper threats that could reshape global stability?

- Camila Araujo, Director, Solos, Brazil
- Kyle Campbell, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, Project C, USA
- Ricardo Meléndez-Ortiz, Founder and Fellow, Caeruleum, Switzerland
- Dalton Price, Colombian & Venezuelan Country-Conditions Expert, U.S. Immigration Court, USA
- John Robert Sutton, Managing Director, JR Sutton & Co, USA

Chaired by

- Lauri Tähtinen, Chief Executive Officer and President, Mission Grey, USA

Start-Ups, Scale and the Next Growth Wave (Room 3)

Start-ups play a central role in translating new ideas into real economic and quality of life impacts, but scaling is difficult, slow, and capital-intensive. Many promising ventures stall not because of weak ideas, but because ecosystems struggle to support the transition from early growth to durable businesses. What helps start-ups move from momentum to maturity without losing focus or resilience? How can investors move beyond supporting start-up launch platforms to create conditions for companies that provide lasting value and thrive over time?

- Rissia Caroline Xavier de Araujo, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, Y2R Consulting, Brazil
- Rosario B. Casas, Co-Founder, BCPartners Tech, USA
- Julio Garcia, Chief Executive Officer, Boosters Media Group, Colombia
- John D. Graham, Founder, Global Ideation, USA

Chaired by

- Jerry Power, Founder, I3 Systems, USA

Gen Z, Gen Alpha and the Building of Tomorrow (Room 4)

Gen Z is entering leadership pipelines just as Gen Alpha begins to shape expectations around technology, learning, and identity from an early age. How these generations relate to work, authority, and opportunity will play a decisive role in how tomorrow's institutions and economies are built. What do Gen Z and Gen Alpha expect from employers, education systems, and leadership? How can organizations bridge generational differences to build cultures that endure rather than fragment?

- Ricardo Bacci G. Amaral, Ambassador, Planet Youth Brazil, Brazil
- Gloria Figueroa, Director General, San José de las Vegas, Colombia
- Luis Miguel Jaramillo, LATAM Director, Conecta Iberoamérica, Spain
- Luísa de Oliveira Moretto, Founder, Issá Creative Studio, Brazil

Chaired by

- Aline Both, Founder, Essere Amalfi, Brazil

Winning the Global Technology Race (Room 5)

Competition over semiconductors, data infrastructure, and AI capability is becoming a central driver of economic strength and geopolitical influence. As technology increasingly defines power, countries outside the dominant blocs face rising exposure but also new opportunities to position themselves through specialization, alliances, and smart policy choices. How will technological competition reshape global hierarchies in the coming decade and beyond? What strategic options remain open for emerging and middle powers seeking relevance, resilience, and advantage tomorrow?

- Andrea García Beltrán, Founder and Chair, Cyberspecs TM, Spain
- Juan David Gonzalez, Professor, Universidad de los Andes, Colombia
- David Graff, Chief Legal Officer, Quantum Corridor, USA
- Santiago Martinez, Founder, Futura Work, USA

- Alejandro Sánchez, Founder, Jikanle AI, Colombia

Chaired by

- Roberto Alvarez, Executive Director, The Global Federation of Competitiveness Councils, USA

Agentic AI and the Future of Decision-Making (Room 6)

AI systems are evolving from analytical tools into agentic systems capable of setting goals, making decisions, and acting with limited human intervention. How these capabilities are deployed will strongly influence tomorrow's economic performance, security structures, and institutional trust. Where should autonomy remain firmly in human hands, and where can machines responsibly act on behalf of organizations and societies? What safeguards are essential as AI systems gain agency and operate at scale?

- Michael Diller, Partner, Kollie.AI, Germany
- Will Hatcher, Co-Founder, AI & The Culture, USA
- Flavia Neves, Co-Founder & COO, Ommed, Brazil
- Brandon C. Powell, Chief Executive Officer, HatchWorks AI, USA
- Benito De Ruschi, Co-Founder, Payana, Mexico

- Thomas H Treutler, Chief Revenue Officer, Chromatics AI, USA

Chaired by

- Rufus Lidman, Founder, Digitalenta, Singapore

Finance Without Friction: Innovation and Trust (Room 7)

Digital finance is reshaping payments, credit, and access to capital, reducing barriers and accelerating economic exchange across borders. Its long-term impact will depend on whether innovation improves efficiency and inclusion while preserving financial stability, consumer protection, and systemic trust. How can financial innovation strengthen growth and competitiveness for tomorrow's economies? What regulatory approaches encourage experimentation without undermining confidence in financial systems?

- Juliana Ciro, Executive Director, Microempresas de Colombia, Colombia
- Jose Donato, Co-Founder, Cobre, Colombia
- Wei Hung, Co-founder and Chief Executive Officer, Educacion Estrella, Colombia
- Alexandra Mendoza, Chief Executive Officer and Founder, Liquitech, Colombia
- Benito Mendoza, Chief Executive Officer, Grupo BECM, Mexico
- Laura Trujillo, Lawyer, Araya & Cia Abocados, Colombia
- Marian Villa, Co-founder, Pionerasdev, Colombia

Chaired by

- Andrés Esparza, Chief Operating Officer, Latimpacto, Colombia

Culture, Identity and the Power of Narrative (Room 8)

Cultural narratives shape how societies understand progress, risk, and belonging, influencing political choices, economic behavior, and international relations. In a fragmented world, soft power, storytelling, and cultural exchange increasingly determine whose ideas gain traction and how cooperation becomes possible. How does culture influence decision-making at national and institutional levels? What role can cultural dialogue play in reducing polarization and shaping shared futures?

- Santiago Bareiro, Director & Founder, Popa, Argentina
- Natalia Lucas, Cofounder, Badauê, Brazil
- Juliana Mejia, Columnist, El Tiempo de Colombia, Colombia
- Sarita Palacio, Chief Executive Officer, Duende, Colombia
- Maria Catalina Prieto, Executive Director, Orquesta Filarmónica de Medellín, Colombia
- Maya Reyes, Founder, Wasi Digital Learning, Brazil

Chaired by

- Valentina Humar, Executive Director, GJ Comunicaciones, Colombia

Learning to Lead in an Uncertain World (Room 9)

Leadership development is increasingly misaligned with the realities leaders now face, from geopolitical instability and technological disruption to social fragmentation. Preparing leaders for tomorrow requires moving beyond technical expertise toward judgment, decision-making under uncertainty, and responsibility over longer time horizons. Which capabilities matter most when rules, institutions, and assumptions are in flux? How can education systems and organizations better prepare leaders for sustained responsibility rather than short-term success?

- Sergio Andres Badillo, Co-founder, Baleon, Colombia
- Marcos Gottfried, Chief Executive Officer, Tradex, Mexico
- Lina María Agudelo Gutiérrez, Dean STEAM School, Universidad EAI, Colombia
- Almas Jiwani, Chief Executive Officer, Almas Jiwani Foundation, Canada
- Mateo Jiménez Leon, Chief Executive Officer, Destiny Awakens, Colombia
- Laura Maria Molina Ayala, Chief Executive Officer, Balbal SAS, Colombia
- Laura Suarez, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, Talent Hub, Colombia
- Simón Villa Arango, Director of Digital Health, LearUp Systems, USA

Chaired by

- Lisa Vos, Founder, Bridgeview, The Netherlands

Latin America in a Multipolar Global Order (Room 10)

As global power diffuses across competing blocs, Latin America faces renewed strategic relevance alongside growing pressure to choose sides. Decisions around trade alignment, technology partnerships, and diplomatic positioning will shape whether the region gains leverage or remains exposed in a more transactional world. How can Latin American countries navigate rivalry among major powers without sacrificing autonomy? Which regional and global partnerships best support long-term influence, resilience, and economic opportunity?

- María José Bernal Gaviria, Executive Director, Fenalco Antioquia, Colombia
- Ximena Corzo, External Consultant, Mayor's Office of Bogotá, Colombia
- Juan Esteban Suarez, Founder, Arkano Software, Uruguay
- Luz M. Velásquez, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, LatiNOS, USA
- Juliana Villegas Restrepo, Director, Araújo Ibarra, Colombia

Chaired by

- Adriana Roldán Pérez, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, Mirrors in the Attic, Colombia

Building Tomorrow from Living Territories (Room 11)

The Pan-Amazon – spanning Brazil, Colombia, and Peru – is one of the world's most powerful examples of a self-sustaining, regenerative living system, yet finance has never learned to recognize its value. Indigenous peoples have sustained this balance of climate, water, and biodiversity for centuries – so why hasn't the capital to support it followed? What needs to change in finance, governance, and imagination for capital to treat the standing forest as infrastructure, not charity? And how can biophilic philanthropy – investing in living systems rather than managing their collapse – scale across the Pan-Amazon and beyond?

- Carolina Gil, Director, The Amazon Conservation Team, Colombia
- Luciana De Lamare, President and Co-founder, Instituto Aupaba, Brazil
- Antonio Matapi, Indigenous leader from Miriti Parana, Colombia
- Ceres Scattolini, Co-founder and President, Instituto Biofílica, Brazil
- Juan Felipe Suarez, Coordinator, The "Listen to the Amazon" Alliance, Colombia

Chaired by

- Rodrigo Paris, Diplomat, Journalist and Philanthropist, Colombia

Language, Power and Social Transformation (Room 12)

Communication shapes how societies understand change, identity, and fairness. Inclusive language and deep listening are becoming strategic tools for organizational and societal transformation. How can communication foster trust across difference? What role does language play in reshaping power structures and social norms?

- Angela Anzola, Chief Executive Officer, Fundación PLAN, Colombia
- Diana Castro Benetti, Executive Director, El Malpensante, Colombia
- Alessandro Iacono, Founder, Digital Organizing, Switzerland
- Andrea Vásquez, Founder, Compás Urbano, Colombia

Chaired by

- Akira Tsuchiya, President, The Global Institute (TGI), Japan

Human Dynamics, Legacy, and NextGen in Family Enterprises (Room 13)

Family enterprises are the backbone of emerging economies, yet their greatest challenges are rarely financial – they are human: unresolved conflict, unspoken expectations, and the delicate art of passing on both wealth and purpose. As a new generation steps forward, families are forced to weigh the pull of legacy against the freedom to reinvent, testing what it takes to keep both the business and the family whole. How can families turn the friction between tradition and innovation into a source of strength rather than division? What do rising generations need from their families - and their boards – to inherit not just a legacy, but the confidence to lead?

- Carolina Bohorquez, Chief Executive Officer, Angel Group, Colombia
- Sebastian Gallo, Co-founder, torre.ai, Colombia
- Santiago Perry, Member of the Board, Instituto de Familias Empresarias, Tecnológico de Monterrey, Mexico
- Carolina Mejía, President, Multicar, Colombia
- Catalina Mejia, Director, Reserva Natural, Colombia
- Luis Miguel Ramírez Fernández, Chief Executive Officer, ParaConstruir, Colombia

Chaired by

- Maria Naranjo, Chief Executive Officer, Zenta Leader Lab, Colombia

09.00-10.00 Plenary: Building Together in a Fragmented World (Auditorium)

The forces shaping today's world are pulling economies, societies, and institutions in different directions at once. Whether tomorrow holds instability or continuity will depend on how effectively common frameworks, shared rules, and workable partnerships are constructed and maintained. What can realistically be built across divisions to keep systems functioning and societies cohesive? How can leaders strengthen the foundations that allow cooperation to endure under pressure?

- Bo Inge Andersson, President, Ivanhoe IV, USA
- Marcela Fernandez, Founder, Cumbres Blancas, Colombia
- Valentina Jordan, Chief Executive Officer, Nauta, USA
- Anthony Robinson, Executive Director, Netroots Nation, USA

Chaired by

- Parag Amin, Chief Mentor and Founding Director, iCreate, USA

10.00-11.30 Sessions

Colombia and the Next Innovation Cycle (Room 1)

Colombia's entrepreneurial ecosystem continues to mature, supported by expanding venture capital, digital transformation, and sectoral innovation. The challenge ahead lies in scaling start-ups sustainably while anchoring innovation within long-term national development. What conditions most effectively support start-ups as they move from experimentation to scale? How can Colombia strengthen its position as a globally competitive innovation hub?

- Andrés Arias, Director, Medellín Chamber of Commerce, Colombia
- Fernando Cardenas, Chief Executive Officer, LIFT Growth & Innovation, Colombia
- Mike Hoey, Founder, Source Meridian, USA
- Said Navi Lamk Beltran, Executive Director, RENATA, Colombia
- Mario Alejandro Muñetón, Co-Founder & Chief Executive Officer, Wheelo, Colombia
- Angie Ortega, Chief Executive Officer and Co-founder, Zentrack, Colombia

Chaired by

- Orion Vargas, Professor of Law, Universidad de Medellín, Colombia

Global Megatrends Shaping Tomorrow (Room 2)

A small number of powerful megatrends are redefining how economies grow, societies organize, and power is distributed. Understanding how these long-term forces interact is essential for leaders seeking to anticipate change rather than respond to it too late. Which megatrends will most strongly influence global stability and prosperity in the years ahead? How can leaders move from observing megatrends to shaping outcomes with intent?

- Primoz Karpe, Chairman, NLB Bank Group, Slovenia
- Danilo Martins, Managing Partner, Lab Secreto, Brazil
- Christian Siegert, Chief Executive Officer, Silvestres Flowers, Colombia
- Juan Marcos Solano, Co-founder, Neuro Clínica, Colombia
- Pietro Ulliana, Chief Executive Officer, Apex Advisors, Switzerland
- Rob Williams, Chief Executive Officer, Children in Conflict, USA

Chaired by

- Marjorie Lisette Garces Ocares, Chief Education Officer, IFFAmérica, Chile

AI, Creativity and the Human Signature (Room 3)

Generative AI is transforming creative industries by amplifying speed, scale, and experimentation, enabling artists, designers, and storytellers to explore ideas and formats that were previously out of reach. Yet preserving human meaning, authorship, and cultural depth remains essential to thriving creative ecosystems, as audiences continue to seek work that carries intention, emotion, and a distinct point of view. How can creators maintain authenticity and ownership of their voice in an increasingly AI-enhanced environment? What ethical and regulatory boundaries can support responsible innovation without stifling the creative risk-taking that drives cultural progress?

- Carolina Alzate, Founder and Creative Director, OpenLAB, USA
- Clara Cardona, Chief Executive Officer, Voice Feeling, USA
- Ewen Ku, Founder and Creative Director, Whaleshark Studio, USA
- Mehdi Frantz Darlis, Founder, KULTCHA Studio, France
- Valentina Jiménez, Chief Executive Officer, Baleon, Colombia
- Lina María Molina, Executive Director, Zinnia Global, Colombia
- Jorge E. Narváez-Arango, Senior Vice President, George P. Johnson, United Kingdom

Chaired by

- Efua Dougan, Managing Director, DS Consortium, UAE

Future Visions at the Edge of the Possible (Room 4)

Technological acceleration is narrowing the distance between speculative ideas and lived reality. Futures thinking can help societies anticipate change and shape direction rather than react to disruption. Which emerging technologies could most transform daily life by mid-century? How can imagination be used responsibly in guiding long-term decisions?

- Mahault Albarracin, Chief Technology Officer, 8oT Inc., Canada
- Kemal Brown, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, Digita Global Group of Companies, Jamaica
- Jaime Andres Cano, Chief Executive Officer, Corporación para Investigaciones Biológicas, Colombia
- Parikshit Dhume, President Intellectual Cell, Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP), India
- Laura Edwards, Cross Domain Evangelist, GeoSpaceResources, USA
- Jennifer Heredia, Executive Director, Tralia Gobal, Colombia
- Martin Arturo Salas de la Espriella, Chief Executive Officer and Founder, Cual Doc, Colombia

Chaired by

- José Alejandro Betancur, Director, Imaginar Futuros, Colombia

AI for Social Impact and Social Mobility (Room 5)

Artificial intelligence is increasingly used to expand access to healthcare, education, and opportunity, opening new paths to address long-standing social challenges. Building tomorrow will depend on whether these applications can scale in ways that earn trust, reflect local realities, and deliver measurable impact. How can AI-driven social innovations move beyond pilot projects into broad adoption? What approaches ensure that AI expands social mobility rather than reinforcing existing divides?

- Karen Lorena Brugés, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, MIYITAS, Colombia
- Federico Gomez, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, Plurall, Colombia
- Rania Hoteit, Founder, ID4A Technologies, USA
- Carlos Andres Monterrosa, Founder, Fundación Promidamos, Colombia
- Diego Orozco, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, Social Greentech Consulting, Colombia
- Maria Fe Salazar, Co-Founder, Equivox Solutions, Peru
- Juan Felipe Santos, Co-Founder, BTH, Colombia

Chaired by

- Diego Corrales, Founder, BIOiDEAS, Colombia

Building Latin America's New Architecture of Work (Room 6)

The way companies find, deploy, and retain talent is undergoing a structural shift, as distributed teams, AI-augmented workflows, and on-demand hiring models replace the assumptions that governed workforce design for decades. Across Latin America, organizations that move fastest from experimentation to execution are gaining competitive advantages that may prove difficult to reverse. Which workforce models are delivering measurable results in practice, and which remain aspirational despite the attention they attract? How can companies build the hiring architectures and management practices needed to compete in an economy where talent, technology, and geography are no longer fixed constraints?

- Juan F. Herrera, Chief Executive Officer, TP MAR, Colombia
- Martin Martorell, Chief People Officer, Addi, Argentina
- Juan Manuel Mesa, Country Manager, Salesforce Colombia, Colombia
- Esteban Molina, Director, Globant, Colombia
- Camilo Andrés Montañez, Director, 3GOVideo, Colombia
- Mario Plata, Co-Founder, XTrain, Colombia
- María Alejandra Ruiz Severino, Chief Executive Officer and Founder, Regresa IPS, Colombia

Chaired by

- Brenda Hernández, Co-Founder and Chief Executive Officer, Mexico

Governance Models for a Multipolar Global South (Room 7)

Governance across emerging regions is evolving as power becomes more distributed and expectations toward the state, markets, and institutions shift. In a multipolar world, the ability of the Global South to experiment with new governance approaches will influence not only development outcomes, but also the rules shaping the international system. Which governance models best support growth, stability, and legitimacy in this new context? How can countries in the Global South move from adapting to existing rules toward actively shaping them?

- Miguel Bello, Director, Pluriversa, Colombia
- Joyce Brand, Founder, The Morazan Model, USA
- Maria Lucia Mendez, Programme Director, Fundación Ideas para la Paz, Colombia
- Paul Serges Ntamack, Minister Plenipotentiary, Permanent Mission of Cameroon to UNOG, Cameroon
- James Nuveen, Founder, Freedom Files, USA
- Jerry Zhang, Chairman, Sino-Laurel, China

Chaired by

- Isabel Ramelli, Journalist, El Colombiano, Colombia

Green Technologies and the Climate Transformation (Room 8)

Technological innovation is accelerating the transition toward low-carbon and resource-efficient systems. The ability to thrive will depend on integrating green technologies into competitive economic strategies. Which green technologies hold the greatest transformative potential? How can climate innovation support growth while reducing environmental risk?

- Iyad Al-Attar, Visiting Scholar, Universidad Politécnica de Madrid, Spain
- Claudia Marcela Betancu, Executive Director, Biointropic, Colombia
- Monika Campos Urueña, LATAM Mining Business Development Manager, ESG Solutions, Colombia
- Carolina Jaramillo, Regional Director LatAm, South Pole, Colombia
- Alejandro Rendón, Chief Executive Officer, Opex, Colombia
- Alexandra Tutuianu, Operations Director, ECOTECA, Romania

Chaired by

- Yurong Li, Chief Executive Officer, Lipatech, USA

Scaling Innovation Beyond the Pilot Phase (Room 9)

Many promising technologies succeed in controlled environments but struggle to scale in real-world systems. Thriving innovation ecosystems depend on faster pathways from experimentation to adoption. What barriers most often prevent technologies from scaling? How can ecosystems reduce friction between innovation, regulation, and deployment?

- David Calderon, Co-Founder and Chief Executive Officer, Teral, Colombia
- Camilo Fernando Cortés, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, Olga, Colombia
- Mauricio Ferrer, Chief Executive Officer, Arrus, Colombia
- Diego Martinez, Chief Executive Officer, RZ Group, Colombia
- Melissa Penagos, Founder, VINKS, Colombia
- Juan Jose Sanchez, Co-Founder, Ola Tech, Colombia
- Tivisay Vallejo Sánchez, Chief Executive Officer and Founder, biia Group, Colombia

Chaired by

- Tariq Nizami, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, CEO Clubs Network Worldwide, USA

Digital Health and Medicine for Tomorrow (Room 10)

AI and digital technologies are reshaping healthcare, from diagnostics and treatment planning to prevention, monitoring, and drug discovery. How these tools are integrated will determine whether tomorrow's health systems become more efficient, accessible, and resilient, or more fragmented and unequal. What conditions enable digital health solutions to scale safely across healthcare systems? How can clinicians, technologists, and regulators work together to translate innovation into better outcomes for patients tomorrow?

- Rushdy Ahmad, Director, Wyss Diagnostics Accelerator, Harvard's Wyss Institute, USA
- Ayla Annac, Chief Executive Officer, InvivoSciences, USA
- Eduardo Castaño, Chief Executive Officer, SimaHealth, USA
- Oliver Chen, Professor in Artificial Intelligence and Statistical Science, University of Lausanne, Switzerland
- Catalina Isaza, Chief Executive Officer, Innmetec, Colombia
- Midhun Kunj, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, Vowels Group, India
- Aisling Murray, Founder, AMD-Advisory, Switzerland

Chaired by

- David Wu, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, Motus Nova, USA

Rethinking Philanthropy for Tomorrow (Room 11)

Global philanthropy is under pressure to move from fragmented giving toward measurable, long-term impact across education, health, poverty reduction, culture, and climate. How capital is allocated, governed, and partnered will determine whether philanthropy complements public action or remains peripheral to systemic change. How can philanthropic resources be deployed more strategically to address root causes rather than symptoms? What new models of partnership between philanthropy, business, and government can increase effectiveness and accountability?

- Catalina Escobar R., President, Juanfe, Colombia
- Ana Karina Garcia, President, Foundation Juntos se puede, Colombia
- Blake William Kollin, Chief Executive Officer and Founder, CK Elite, USA
- Patricia Pasqualini, Vice-Chancellor, UNIDAVI, Brazil
- Tatiana Rincon, President, Business Development, Fundación Capital, Colombia

Chaired by

- Héctor Villarreal Lozoya, Founder, Proyectum, Dominican Republic

Living in the Edgescape: When the World Becomes too Hot to Live (Room 12)

The IPCC projects temperatures rising by up to 3.5 degrees by the end of the century, and even higher by the mid-22nd century. If this becomes reality rather than mere projection, life on Earth will no longer be viable everywhere, and humanity may need to migrate to the 'Edgescapes' – northern and southern regions closer to the (Ant)Arctic and areas of higher altitude. Can Indigenous science help us design places that allow the land – and people – to survive? What new technologies will be needed to provide food, water, and energy in these regions? And what conditions are required for people to endure in increasingly overheated areas?

- Pedro Évora Amaral, Chief Executive Director and Founding Director, RUA Lab Architecture, Brazil
- Arie-Willem Bijl, Founder, Titaannetwerk, The Netherlands
- Paula Andrea Daza, Head of Sustainability and Regeneration, Comfama, Colombia
- Juliana Gomez Aristizabal, Coordinator, Estudios Urbanos y Ambientales, Colombia
- Saskia de Man, Strategic Advisor, City of Zaanstad, The Netherlands
- Enilda Luz Jimenez, Chair, Surikí Nature Reserve Community, Colombia

Chaired by

- Rob Roggema, Founder and Managing director, CITTAIDEALE, The Netherlands

Stewarding Capital for Tomorrow (Room 13)

Wealth managers are evolving from custodians of capital into active architects of long-term value, blending preservation and growth with direct participation in impact investment and the industries shaping tomorrow. As intergenerational wealth transfers accelerate across Latin America and beyond, wealth management institutions - from private banks to independent advisors to family offices – face growing pressure to align financial returns with purpose, resilience, and legacy. How should wealth managers balance capital preservation with the pursuit of impact investments? What governance and investment models will define the institutions best positioned to build tomorrow's economy?

- Kevin Harrison, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, BGI Capital Partners, United Kingdom
- Christian Kling, Co-Founder and Managing Partner, KLIDE Group, Colombia
- Jairo C. Lamatina, Principal, Jeike Partners, Paraguay
- Antonio J. Lopez, President, Access Global Group, USA
- Andrés Restrepo, Managing Partner, Restrepo & Co., Colombia
- Jose Villegas, Chairman, Blackwater Group, USA

Chaired by

- Joaquin Dulitzky, Principal, AB Bernstein, USA

Mapping the Future You Can't See Yet (Room 14)

Rather than discussing the future through words alone, this session invites participants to sense it through the body – using 4D Mapping, a guided practice in which the group physically embodies the forces, tensions, and possibilities shaping a system, allowing patterns to emerge that conversation alone often misses. As the world navigates accelerating change, this experimental format offers a different way of asking the questions at the heart of Building Tomorrow: not only what we think the future holds, but what we collectively sense and feel about it. What can embodied, intuitive awareness reveal about the future that analysis and debate cannot? How might leaders draw on collective sensing – alongside data and dialogue – to navigate genuine uncertainty? Join our 4D Mapping session with a real-world case to learn how to visualize hidden system dynamics and identify next practical steps for transformation.

Conducted by

- Petra Borgmann Durrie, Visual Artist and Practitioner, Social Presencing Theater, Germany
- Patrícia de Caires Sogayar, Practitioner, Social Presencing Theater, Brazil
- Luciana Foresti Lanzoni, Practitioner, Social Presencing Theater, Colombia
- Maria del Rosario Montejo, Practitioner, Social Presencing Theater, Colombia

11.30-12.00 Contact Break

12.00-13.30 Sessions

AI as a Co-Creator of Innovation (Room 1)

AI is becoming part of the innovation process itself, shaping how ideas are generated, tested, and refined. The way organizations integrate machine intelligence alongside human judgment will influence not only speed and efficiency, but also accountability, creativity, and trust. How can human insight and machine capability be combined to produce better innovation outcomes? What cultural and organizational shifts are needed for teams to rely on AI without losing responsibility or creative ownership?

- Ananya Agrawal, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, Dreamverse Learning Lab, India
- Parag Amin, Chief Mentor and Founding Director, iCreate, USA
- Nicolás Contreras, Founder, PappCorn, Colombia
- Scott Francis, Founder, Westslope Advisors, USA
- Lucas A. Gómez, Co-founder and Chief Executive Officer, áureafoods, Colombia
- Nikolas Mancebo, AI Strategy Consultant, Brazil
- Lorraine Sandoval, Co-Founder and Chief Executive Officer, Looviin, Colombia
- Paulo Vila, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, Imaginos AI, Colombia

Chaired by

- Jouko Ahvenainen, Chairman, Mission Grey, USA

Powering the Digital Age (Room 2)

The growth of AI, data centers, and digital infrastructure is driving a sharp increase in global energy demand. Whether digital economies can scale tomorrow will depend on how power systems are designed to deliver reliability, resilience, and flexibility under rising load. How can energy infrastructure evolve fast enough to support accelerating digitalization? What trade-offs will shape decisions between resilience, cost, sustainability, and scale?

- Maria Juliana Arango, Chief Executive Officer, INPEL, Colombia
- Maria Juliana Arango, Chief Executive Officer, INPEL, Colombia
- Camilo Barco, Chief Executive Officer, Piyion, Colombia
- Laurent Delifer, President and Chief Executive Officer, NavComm, Switzerland
- Roberto Intriago, Head of Business Operations, Singularity Compute, Ecuador
- José Luis Menghini, Chairman, NTT Data Energy & Utilities, Brazil
- Khadija Mustafa, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, Beyyond AI, USA
- Juan Pablo Perez Ortiz, Chief Executive Officer, TI724, Colombia

Chaired by

- Andres Hayes, President and Chief Executive Officer, Airtifae Group, USA

Social Entrepreneurship for Tomorrow (Room 3)

Social enterprises are increasingly filling gaps where markets and public institutions fall short, translating local innovation into practical solutions. Their ability to shape tomorrow's societies depends on whether they can scale operations, attract capital, and build partnerships without drifting from their original mission. How can social enterprises grow while preserving purpose and credibility? What ecosystems best support long-term social impact rather than short-lived initiatives?

- Mercedes Bidart, Co-founder and Chief Executive Officer, Quipu, Colombia
- Lilian Borges, Professor, Unidavi, Brazil
- Cesar Cadavid, General Manager, TuSocio, Colombia
- Melissa Castrillon, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, País de Raíz, Colombia
- Robert Diaconeasa, Founder, MENtalks, Romania
- Juan Pablo Santacruz, Chief Executive Officer and Co-Founder, Aktua, Colombia

Chaired by

- Stacy Scott, Founder and President, Global Sustainable Inc., USA

Web 3 and the Future of Decentralized Cooperation (Room 4)

Decentralized technologies are reshaping trust, coordination, and value exchange. Their long-term contribution depends on whether they foster cooperation rather than fragmentation. How can Web 3 systems support inclusive collaboration? What governance challenges must be addressed as decentralization expands?

- Carlos Aguilo, Co-Founder & Chief Growth Officer, Rebbit Group, Venezuela
- Daniel Camilo Delgado, Co-Founder, ReFi Collective, Colombia
- Andres Felipe Fonseca, Co-Founder, VIIO Fintech, Colombia
- Edison Montoya, Professor, Universidad de Antioquia, Colombia
- Juan Esteban Saldarriaga, Co-Founder, Factos, Colombia
- Mauricio Tovar, Chief Executive Officer, TRU Web3, Colombia

Chaired by

- Juan Sebastian Gomez, Chief Executive Officer, FailFast, Colombia

Water Security in a World of Competing Demands (Room 5)

Water scarcity is emerging as a defining economic and geopolitical challenge. Thriving futures depend on treating water as strategic infrastructure rather than an unlimited resource. How can water systems adapt to rising demand and stress? What innovations support long-term water security across regions?

- Jose Acero, Partner, DosOceanos Capital; Former Vice Minister of Water and Sanitation, Colombia
- Ludovic Claude, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, Aquaful, Switzerland
- Marcela Fernandez, Founder, Cumbres Blancas, Colombia
- Candelaria Lucero, Country Director Colombia, WaterAid, Colombia
- Juan Guillermo Rocha, Chief Executive Officer, SPGC, Colombia
- Julian Santos, Chief Executive Officer and Co-Founder, Fluvia, Colombia

Chaired by

- Stiphan Beher, Chief Executive Officer, International Water Security Foundation, New Zealand

What If Tomorrow Goes Wrong? (Room 6)

Great-power conflict, climate breakdown and economic collapse are no longer abstract risks but plausible scenarios. Exploring worst-case outcomes can help identify the choices needed today to avert future crises. Which risks could most realistically push the world into prolonged crisis? What decisions today could prevent irreversible damage tomorrow?

- Felipe Cardenas, Chief Executive Officer, The Colombian Diversity Chamber, Colombia
- Sueley Cavalcante, Director, The Global Youth Coalition (GYC), Brazil
- Carlos Felipe Collins, Director General, Guzcoll, Colombia
- LouAnn Conner, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, SagaciousThink, USA
- Germán Bula Escobar, Former Minister of National Education, Colombia
- Victor Rujano, Coordinator, Stop Ecocide International, Spain
- Sofia Serrano, Director General, Waylab Venezuela, Venezuela

Chaired by

- Carlotta Franchin, Partner, Dara Strategies, USA

Cyber Resilience and Digital Trust (Room 7)

Cyber threats are growing in scale and sophistication, targeting critical infrastructure, businesses, and individuals alike. The ability of digital societies to function tomorrow will depend on resilience that extends beyond technical defenses to governance, behavior, and shared responsibility. How can cyber resilience become embedded across institutions and organizations rather than treated as a specialist function? What strategies help sustain trust in increasingly complex and interconnected digital ecosystems?

- Anuuj Chauhan, Co-Founder and Chief Executive Officer, YS Tech, India
- Andres Galindo, Co-Founder, AnkaTech, USA
- Howard Mansbach, President, GEM Technologies, USA
- Stiven Mayorga, Co-Founder and Chief Technology Officer, Hacketix, Colombia
- Alexis Medina, Chief Executive Officer and Founder, inSigner, Colombia
- Rodrigo Perezalonso, Partner, Northern Latam, Mexico
- Johan Rocuts, Co-Founder, Orbexs, Colombia

Chaired by

- Julia Dudenko, Global Chief Information Security Officer, Hapag-Lloyd, Germany

Competitiveness in a Changing World (Room 8)

Shifting technologies, new market structures, and evolving trade relationships are redefining how economies and companies compete. Building tomorrow's prosperity will depend on strengthening productivity, innovation, and adaptability in an increasingly dynamic global environment. How can competitiveness be enhanced amid rapid change and uncertainty? What strategies help economies stay open, innovative, and globally connected while reinforcing resilience?

- Juan Carlos Castro Lozano, Executive Director, Invest Pacific, Colombia
- Paola Gil, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, Connect2BPO, Colombia
- Maira Fernandes Halfacre, Senior Advisor, Secondary Markets & Private Equity, Brazil
- Jose Maria Vich Terron, Chief Executive Officer and Founder, Apasiona-T, Colombia
- Daniel Velez, Founder, Vera, Colombia

Chaired by

- Yuri Sineriz, Founder and Managing Partner, Visionary Fund, Colombia

Rebuilding Venture Capital for a Thriving Innovation Economy (Room 9)

Venture capital ecosystems are adjusting to higher capital costs, tighter liquidity, and more disciplined growth expectations. Building a thriving tomorrow requires venture models that reward resilience, long-term value creation, and responsible scaling rather than short-term expansion alone. How should venture capital strategies evolve in a more constrained financial environment? What role can AI, sectoral focus, and ecosystem partnerships play in strengthening Colombia's innovation economy?

- Stan Fung, Managing Director, FarSight Ventures, USA
- Olivier Khatib, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, T1U.ai, United Kingdom
- Hamed Salah, Co-Founder & COO, Global Venture Builder, Egypt
- Rodrigo Villar Esquivel, Founding Partner, New Ventures Group, Mexico

Chaired by

- Regina Noppe, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, Dream2B, Canada

Building the Energy Systems of a Thriving Tomorrow (Room 10)

Global energy demand continues to rise as economies expand, digitalization accelerates, and living standards improve. Building a thriving tomorrow depends on reshaping energy systems so they deliver reliability, affordability, and sustainability at the same time, while supporting economic competitiveness and social stability. How can energy policies balance growth, security, and decarbonization in a rapidly changing world? Which technological and investment pathways offer the most credible route toward resilient and sustainable energy systems?

- Francisco Benedito, Co-founder and Chief Executive Officer, ClimateTrade, Colombia
- Alejandro Lucio Chaustre, Chief Executive Officer, Óptima, Colombia
- Reinaldo Espinosa, Concordia Investments, Founder and Managing Partner, Colombia
- Anderson Camilo Mesa, Chief Executive Officer, Copsun, Colombia
- Mauricio Queiroz, Chief Executive Officer, Tidalwatt, Brazil
- Juan David Payares, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, PayOli Energy, USA
- Ricardo Andres Sierra, Chief Executive Officer, Celsia Energía, Colombia

Chaired by

- Niels van der Wijk, Co-Founder and Managing Director, Ongresso Energy, Colombia

Designing Institutions for Tomorrow (Room 11)

Many of today's institutions were designed for a slower, more predictable world, yet they are now expected to operate under constant technological, economic, and geopolitical change. Building tomorrow will depend on whether institutions can be redesigned to make decisions faster, learn continuously, and remain legitimate under pressure. What should institutions of the future look like if they are to remain effective and trusted? How can rules, incentives, and structures evolve without sacrificing stability and accountability?

- Michelle Barry, Co-Founder and Co-Chair, Knowledge Innovation Society (KIS), USA
- Luz Carreno, Co-Founder, GLACO, USA
- Laura Gallego Moscoso, Executive Vice President, Proantioquia, Colombia
- Licia Mesquita, President, Impact Hub Brasil Association, Brazil
- Raul Pop, Programs Director, ECOTECA, Romania
- Sebastian Zapata, Founder, Elepha Consulting, Colombia

Chaired by

- Lina Tangarife, Co-Founder, TerritoriA, Colombia

The United States: Direction, Decisions and Global Impact (Room 12)

The United States is entering a pivotal phase as domestic political dynamics, economic priorities, and global responsibilities converge ahead of the mid-term elections. Policy direction on trade, technology, security, and fiscal strategy will shape not only the country's internal trajectory but also its role in an increasingly competitive international environment. How might upcoming political developments influence U.S. economic and foreign policy priorities? What signals should global partners watch as the United States defines its next phase of global engagement?

- Giselle Alers, Chief Executive Officer, Global Creative Economy, USA
- Jerry Hultin, Chief Executive Officer, Global Futures Group; Former US Under Secretary of the Navy, USA
- Karla Jones, Vice President, ALEC Center for International Freedom, USA
- Isabella Richey, Recording Artist and Entrepreneur, Chez Begs, United Kingdom
- Peter Simek, Founder, Simek & Co., USA

Chaired by

- Bill Mendel, Owner, Mendel Communications, USA

From Resource Wealth to Prosperity: Navigating towards Sustainability (Room 13)

The global energy transition is reshaping the economic and strategic value of natural resources. While demand for clean-energy technologies is accelerating investment in copper, lithium, nickel, rare earths and other critical minerals, fossil fuels remain central to energy systems, industrial production, public finances and international trade. Meanwhile, forests, biodiversity, water resources and other forms of natural capital are acquiring greater economic and strategic significance. What should a resource-rich economy do differently now to ensure that its natural wealth remains a source of prosperity – not vulnerability – twenty years from now?

- Cynthia Barzuna, Global Deputy Director Ocean Program, WRI; Former Deputy Minister of Water and Ocean Affairs Costa Rica, USA
- Cristina Echavarría, Former Director, Alliance for Responsible Mining, Colombia
- Lina Franco, Former President, National Mining Agency (ANM), Colombia

Leading the Future: From Sustainable Construction to Regenerative Urban Systems (Room 14)

As cities face multiple challenges, doing less harm is no longer enough: the built environment must actively regenerate the ecosystems, communities, and economies it touches. This shift demands a new form of leadership, one that moves from optimising projects to stewarding living systems, and from managing certainty to navigating complexity. How do we design and develop urban places where life can thrive? What must leaders unlearn, and what capacity must they build, to guide the evolution from sustainability to regeneration?

- David Díaz, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, EsDiez Constructora, Colombia
- Menno Lammers, Founder and Mission Steward, UR.World, The Netherlands
- Laura Lamprea, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, ReBio, Colombia

13.30-14.30 Lunch Break (Foyer)

An opportunity to meet to open new ventures with other delegates.

14.30-15.30 Plenary: Democracy as a Force for Tomorrow (Auditorium)

Democracy unlocks the creativity, dignity, and potential of every citizen, giving people a voice in shaping their own future and the freedom to pursue their aspirations. Colombia stands as one of Latin America's most enduring democracies, with a long tradition of free elections, strong institutions, and an engaged, vibrant society that continues to inspire. Its experience shows how democratic values can fuel prosperity, empower women and young people, and connect communities across every region of the country. How can democracy continue to expand opportunity and inspire confidence in the future? How can Colombia share its democratic strengths as a partner and leader across the Americas?

- Paloma Valencia, Former Senator and Presidential Candidate, Colombia

Chaired by

- Claude Béglé, Chairman, Symbioswiss, Switzerland

15.30-17.00 Sessions

Is the AI Bubble About to Burst? (Room 1)

Valuations across AI-related companies have surged, driven by expectations of rapid productivity gains and market dominance. Whether these expectations translate into sustainable earnings will determine if AI becomes a long-term growth engine or faces a market correction. Are current AI valuations supported by fundamentals and realistic adoption timelines? What signals should investors and policymakers watch to distinguish durable value from speculative excess?

- Gurvinder Ahluwalia, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, Digital Twin Labs, USA
- Guibor Camargo, Chief Executive Officer, Creceré, Colombia

Women, Entrepreneurship and the Power of Inclusive Growth (Room 2)

Women entrepreneurs and leaders are driving innovation, resilience, and social progress across economies, yet structural barriers continue to limit access to capital, networks, and decision-making power. Thriving futures depend on inclusive ecosystems where diversity strengthens competitiveness, leadership quality, and long-term value creation. How can entrepreneurial and investment ecosystems better support women-led ventures at scale? What cultural, institutional, and leadership shifts are needed to turn diversity into a sustained driver of inclusive growth?

- Ana Paula Braga, Founder, Equalia, Brazil
- Cristina Plata, Creator, DALIA, Colombia
- Rosemery Carina Simoes, Chief Executive Officer, Wongo, Cabo Verde
- Carolina Solano, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, WAIAS, Colombia

- Amelia Lopez Huix, Founder and President, MCIP, Italy

Impact Investing as a Catalyst for Thriving Societies (Room 3)

Impact investing seeks to align capital with measurable social and environmental outcomes, channeling resources toward ventures that address pressing challenges from climate resilience to financial inclusion. Its success depends on deep collaboration among investors, entrepreneurs, communities, and policymakers, each bringing distinct expertise and incentives that must be reconciled to sustain long-term value creation. How can impact investments be scaled without diluting impact integrity or succumbing to superficial measures of success? What collaborative models and governance structures best align financial performance with genuine societal value creation across diverse economic and cultural contexts?

- Pilar V Ceron, Managing Director, XTragegy, USA
- Johanna Cordovez Amador, Chief Executive Officer and Co-Founder, TxC Impact, Colombia

- Margareth González, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, Capital Variation, Germany

Building a Technological Renaissance for Human Flourishing (Room 4)

Emerging technologies are expanding humanity's capacity to address long-standing challenges in health, knowledge, and environmental stewardship. Building a thriving tomorrow depends not only on innovation itself, but on whether technological progress is guided by humanist values that prioritize shared flourishing over concentration of power. How can societies ensure that transformative technologies strengthen human dignity and collective wellbeing? What philosophical and institutional shifts are needed to align technological progress with long-term human flourishing?

- Alvaro Abril, Founder, Sistemas Geniales, Colombia
- Jose Cardona, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, PolygonUs, Colombia
- Juan David Correa, Co-founder and Chief Technology Officer, Eatcloud, Colombia

- Lynn Connolly, Founder, Harbor Peak, USA

The Polymath Leader in a World of Distributed Intelligence (Room 5)

Leadership is being reshaped by AI, remote work, and cross-cultural collaboration. Thriving organizations increasingly rely on leaders who can integrate diverse knowledge domains while remaining grounded in human judgment and cultural sensitivity. What capabilities define effective leadership in an AI-augmented world? How can organizations develop leaders who balance technological fluency with ethical and relational intelligence?

- Mariana Botero, Managing Director, Fuly Kids, Colombia
- Astrid Buriticá Ramírez, Human Transformation Facilitator, Colombia
- Erlan Dias, Founder, Centro de Gestão e Liderança Contemporânea, Brazil

- Julian Mora, Founder, La Triada Community, Colombia

Chaired by

- Claudiu Butacu, President and Co-founder, EFdeN, Romania

Cooperation, Competition, and the New Strategic Balance (Room 6)

Scarce resources, talent constraints, and technological complexity are forcing organizations to rethink purely competitive strategies. Thriving systems may depend on knowing when to compete, when to cooperate, and how to combine both without eroding trust. How can firms determine the right balance between competition and cooperation? What role can AI and data-driven tools play in guiding strategic collaboration?

- Saar Ben-Attar, Managing Partner, Ascent Growth Partners, South Africa
- Santiago Barrientos, Chief Executive Officer, Incontacto, Colombia

Building Entrepreneurial Pathways Across Latin America (Room 8)

Latin America combines a young talent base, growing digital adoption, and expanding entrepreneurial ambition, yet progress remains uneven across countries and sectors. Building a thriving tomorrow in the region depends on strengthening policy alignment, access to capital, and cross-border collaboration that allows innovation to scale beyond national boundaries. What structural barriers continue to limit entrepreneurial growth across Latin America? How can regional cooperation help unlock innovation ecosystems that are competitive, inclusive, and resilient?

- Alícia Cesario, Co-founder, Badauê, Brazil
- Víctor Justo García, Venture Partner, Fondo Impacta, Colombia
- Alejandro Gutierrez, Co-Founder, PaLaTierra, Colombia

Chaired by

- Delia Rojas, Director People & Culture, London Consulting Group, Paraguay

Building Renewal Through Ancient Wisdom (Room 9)

Ancient knowledge systems across cultures have sustained human and natural communities over centuries through principles of reciprocity, stewardship, and intergenerational responsibility. Building a thriving tomorrow requires recognizing these perspectives not as symbolic contributions, but as practical foundations for rethinking economic models, governance, and long-term value creation. How can ancient and traditional principles inform our roles as humanity, leaders, and investors in an Age of AI and support us in redesigning our systems in alignment with nature and our highest human potential? What legal and cultural frameworks enable custodians of ancient wisdom to exercise genuine agency and shape sustainable futures?

- Melina Angel, Co-Founder and Director, Colombia Regenerativa, Colombia
- Juan Pablo Duque Arbeláez, Chief Executive Officer, Equilibria, Colombia

What Values for Tomorrow's World? (Room 11)

Public debate across societies is increasingly shaped by a clash between value-driven agendas centered on inclusion and identity, and a renewed emphasis on power, interests, and strategic advantage. How this tension is resolved will influence political legitimacy, institutional trust, and decision-making in a more competitive global environment. Which value frameworks are likely to shape tomorrow's politics and leadership? How can societies navigate this divide without turning values into a permanent source of polarization?

- Sandra Acero, Director, CIVIX Colombia, Colombia
- Sara Alvarez, Chief Executive Officer, CEIPA, Colombia
- Hazel Bernadette Cruz, President and Chief Executive OfficerLink Philippines International, The Philippines

AI Cities: Connecting Ancestral & Artificial Intelligence (Room 12)

As artificial intelligence reshapes urban life, cities face a defining tension between technological progress and the preservation of people, culture, territory and nature. Ancestral intelligence – rooted in local knowledge, social cohesion and ecological awareness – offers a vital counterweight to algorithmic urbanization. How can AI-driven urban governance honour local identity rather than eroding it? And what frameworks are needed to ensure that the intelligence embedded in our cities serves collective well-being and climate resilience for all?

- Santiago Murillo, Director Smart Cities Latin America, CPIENSA Center for Thought & Strategy, Colombia
- Ambriel Pouncy, Founder and Executive Director, Fusion Fashion Tech Society, USA
- Olga Lucia Quintero, Chief Executive Officer, Humath, Colombia

Fintech Frontiers: Scaling Innovation, Securing Growth (Room 13)

The fintech sector is moving from disruption to infrastructure, powering how businesses and consumers save, borrow, invest, and transact at scale. Its next chapter will be defined by how well emerging technologies – from embedded finance to AI-driven underwriting – can be deployed responsibly, expanding reach without amplifying risk. What partnerships between fintech innovators, incumbent institutions, and regulators best support sustainable scaling? How should emerging markets position themselves to capture fintech-driven growth while managing new forms of risk?

- Hector Aponte, Chief Operating Officer, Lineru, Colombia
- Daniel Blandon, Co-Founder and Managing Partner, Simma Capital, Colombia
- María Andrea Espinosa, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, TuBanc, Colombia

- David Alzate, Chief Executive Officer, Pagui, Colombia

The CEO of Tomorrow (Room 14)

Artificial intelligence, accelerating disruption, and geopolitical shifts are rewriting what effective leadership looks like at the top of organizations, challenging long-held assumptions about authority, speed, and control. Building tomorrow's companies will depend on whether leaders concentrate decision-making to move fast or empower teams to navigate complexity together. What kind of leadership will define the CEO of the future in a world shaped by AI and geo-political realignment? How should organizations prepare their next generation of leaders for this shift?

- Dani Bedoni, President, One to One Foundation, USA
- Sebastian Cuartas, Founder, FreshSkool, Colombia
- Melanie Libos, Chief Executive Officer, UM Colombia, Colombia
- Gustavo Lopez Ghory, Chairman and Co-Founder, SmarterChains, Switzerland

- Ralf Hirt, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, CovQ by 8W8, USA

17.00-17.30 Contact Break

17.30-19.00 Sessions

Building New Engines of Growth (Room 1)

Traditional drivers of growth are losing momentum as trade slows, debt rises, and policy space narrows across economies. Building tomorrow will depend on whether innovation, productivity gains, and workforce adaptation can generate new sources of growth that are both durable and broadly shared. Where can the next generation of growth realistically come from in a constrained global environment? How can business, government, and society align to turn innovation into long-term economic momentum rather than short-lived recovery?

- Sergio Avella, Founder, BlackHorse Group, Colombia
- Jose David Barrientos, Founder, RiBuzz, Colombia
- Mauricio Prazak, President, Brazilian Institute of International Business Relations Development, Brazil
- German Jose Morante García, Chief Executive Officer, M&Q, Colombia

- Eddie Wilson, Founder, Impact Others, USA

Chaired by

- Saruhan Hatipoglu, Chief Executive Officer, BERI, USA

Building Alliances That Deliver Tomorrow (Room 2)

Partnerships are increasingly essential as governments, businesses, and institutions confront challenges that no single actor can address alone. The real test lies not in forming alliances but in ensuring they generate momentum, trust, and measurable progress over time. How can leaders structure partnerships that produce durable results rather than symbolic cooperation? What conditions allow collaborative initiatives to shape tomorrow instead of fading after initial enthusiasm?

- Patricia Fuel, Founder, Fuel For Your Ideas, Colombia
- Ken Grams, Chief Executive Officer, Kinetiq Group, USA
- Felipe Herrera, Founder, Tengo Ideas, Colombia
- Tim Christoph Schwarz, Managing Director, Shiplink Holding, Germany

Chaired by

- Simona Ceci, Partner, E4Revive, USA

Building Education Systems for a Thriving Global Citizenship (Room 3)

As societies grow more interconnected and technology reshapes how people learn, education systems face rising expectations beyond skills and credentials. Building a thriving tomorrow requires education that cultivates empathy, ethical judgment, and the capacity to collaborate across cultures while remaining rooted in local context. How can education systems prepare learners for technological, geopolitical, and moral complexity? What approaches ensure equitable access to digital and AI-enabled learning without reinforcing existing divides?

- Santiago Carrillo, Founder, ADA School, Colombia
- Cristina Child, Executive Director, Nogales+, Colombia
- Carla D'Elia, Founder, Save Me Teacher, Brazil
- Alex Magaña, Principal, Beacon Network Schools, USA

- Vicky Ricaurte, Co-Founder and Chief Executive Officer, Arukay, Colombia

Chaired by

- Erika Twani, Chief Executive Officer and Co-Founder, Learning One to One Foundation, USA

Building a Grounded Techno-Optimism (Room 4)

Technological optimism continues to drive investment, experimentation, and bold visions of the future. Building a thriving tomorrow requires moving beyond passive faith in technology toward deliberate choices that align innovation with responsibility, governance, and social outcomes. How can societies translate technological ambition into concrete progress rather than deferred hope? What shared frameworks help ensure that emerging technologies scale responsibly while serving broad human interests?

- Santiago Barrera, Chief Executive Officer and Co-Founder, Aerialoop, Colombia
- Daniela Castaño, Chief Executive Officer, Bive, Colombia
- Jenny Melo, Co-Director, Huella Delta Impacto Colectivo, Colombia

- Paula Velandia, Chief Executive Officer, UAV MASTERS, Colombia
- Andres Vergara, Co-Founder and Chief Executive Officer, Papo, Colombia

Chaired by

- Karen Sun, Professor of Computer Science, Insper, Brazil

Building Resilient Innovation Through Co-Creation (Room 5)

Accelerating technological cycles are forcing organizations to rethink how knowledge is created, shared, and protected. Building a thriving tomorrow depends on innovation models that balance cooperation and competition while sustaining long-term learning and value creation. How can firms co-develop complementary innovations without eroding their intellectual advantage? What practices help smaller enterprises participate in co-innovation while remaining relevant and competitive?

- Maria Paulina Acevedo, Co-Founder, Agüita for Free, Colombia
- Jennifer Atehortúa, Co-Founder, Gaviti Consulting, Colombia
- Ruxandra Ion, Chief Executive Officer and Founder, Ventivo Group, Romania

- Jessica Tabares, Chief Executive Officer, Wip, Colombia

Chaired by

- Thais Carneiro, Chief Executive Officer and Founder, FIND, Brazil

Building Global Leadership in an Age of Power Shifts (Room 6)

Global leadership is being reshaped by shifting power balances, strategic rivalry, and declining trust in established institutions. Building a thriving tomorrow depends not only on economic or military strength, but on the ability to provide stability, cooperation, and credible global stewardship. What lessons from the rise and decline of past powers remain relevant today? Which forms of leadership are most likely to generate legitimacy and cooperation in a fragmented global order?

- Valentina Agudelo, New Initiatives Specialist, Ontop, Colombia
- Sandra Alarcón, National Dirctor, BNI Colombia, Colombia
- Gaby Arenas, Founder, Fundación TAAP, Colombia

Chaired by

- Adriana Richey De Ghory, Co-Founder, SmarterChains, Switzerland

Building a Thriving Economy in the Age of AI (Room 7)

Artificial intelligence is reshaping how value is created, distributed, and captured across economies. Building a thriving tomorrow depends on integrating AI in ways that enhance productivity and innovation while addressing workforce transitions, fairness, and long-term resilience. How is the AI economy transforming established industries and creating new ones? What strategies can businesses and governments adopt to harness AI's benefits while managing disruption and ensuring broad-based opportunity?

- Rodrigo De Angulo, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, Peregrino Digital, Colombia
- David Echeverri, Chief Executive Officer and Co-Founder, Intelsa, Colombia
- Elkin Echeverri, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, La MousAI, Colombia

- Alfonso de los Rios, Chief Executive Officer, Handle, Mexico
- Mauricio Vasquez, Founder, 3 Pinos, Colombia

Chaired by

- Kent Oliver Bhupathi, Founder, Epsilon Executive Education, India

Building Momentum Through Frontier Technologies (Room 8)

Frontier technologies such as AI, blockchain, and immersive digital platforms are accelerating productivity and reshaping how value is created across sectors. Building tomorrow will depend on how effectively these technologies are adopted by small and medium-sized enterprises and embedded into broader industrial and development strategies. How can governments and businesses co-invest to turn technological potential into sustained momentum? Which policies and skills initiatives help scale impact while managing disruption and workforce transition?

- Sneider Y. Alfonso, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, Onde, Colombia

- Jorge Abraham Vega, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, Genesis Coalition, Mexico

Chaired by

- Mattia L. Rattaggi, Managing Partner, METI Advisory, Switzerland

Building Open Science for Shared Progress (Room 9)

Advances in AI, cloud computing, and collaborative research platforms are accelerating scientific discovery and widening participation in knowledge creation. Building a thriving tomorrow depends on openness that balances speed with rigor, collaboration with sustainability, and access with fairness. How can incentives be redesigned to reward open and pre-competitive scientific collaboration? What governance frameworks ensure that open science reduces global disparities rather than reinforcing existing divides?

- Juan F. Alzate, Founder, CNSG-UdeA, Colombia
- Manuela Castaño, Executive Director, Fundación Loyola, Colombia
- Juan Camilo Guerrero, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer, Arandi, Colombia
- Yasmin E Lopera, Pérez, Founder and President, Aoxlab, Colombia

Chaired by

- Luigi Cavallito, Co-founder and Head of Wonders, Si Labs, Lebanon

Building Sustainable Agriculture for Tomorrow (Room 10)

Latin America plays a central role in global food production while facing growing pressure to restore soils, protect biodiversity, and reduce environmental impact. Building a thriving tomorrow depends on transforming agriculture into a regenerative, technology-enabled system that sustains both ecosystems and rural livelihoods. How can agricultural innovation strengthen productivity while restoring natural capital? What policies and incentives help farmers adopt sustainable practices without undermining economic resilience?

- Camila Maria Aguilar Londono, Executive Director, Fundación Alpina, Colombia
- Veronica Giraldo, Chief Partnerships Officer, Producers Trust, USA
- William L. Landers, Founder, Kona Cherry Company, USA

- Teresa Vendramini, President, Federation of Rural Associations of Mercosur, Uruguay

Chaired by

- Avi Basu, Founder and Chief Executive Officer, Wingsure, USA

Building Imagination Through the Arts (Room 11)

Artistic expression shapes how societies understand change, confront uncertainty, and imagine what lies ahead. Building a thriving tomorrow depends not only on technology and policy, but also on cultural spaces that foster empathy, reflection, and shared meaning in times of rapid transformation. How can the arts help societies navigate technological, social, and political change? What role should artists, cultural institutions, and creative education play in strengthening long-term human resilience?

- Paula Builes, Director and Co-Founder, Policroma, Colombia
- Alexandra García Bohórquez, Landscape Architect, Colombia
- Rafael Hernandez, Director, Five Crew, Colombia
- Cecilia Pagkalinawan, Founder, Earthlings, USA
- Valentina F. Stanovova, Art Community Builder and Co-Founder, Muralica, USA

- Maria Cristina Uribe, President, Rotary Club Bucaramanga, Colombia

Chaired by

- Veronica Uribe Hanabergh, Dean of the School of Arts and Humanities, Universidad EAFIT, Colombia

Building Latin America's Healthcare Future (Room 12)

Latin America is becoming a hub for healthcare innovation, combining world-class medical expertise with advances in digital health, biotechnology and clinical research. Colombia, in particular, is emerging as a regional leader in advanced healthcare, medical tourism and life sciences, demonstrating how collaboration between hospitals, universities, businesses and government can drive innovation and improve care. How can Latin America become a global leader in healthcare innovation and investment while expanding access to high-quality care? What new partnerships between healthcare providers, technology companies, investors and policymakers are needed to build more resilient, affordable and patient-centred health systems?

- Ana Maria Béglé, Latin America Director, Horasis, Switzerland
- Pamela Estrada, Director General, Patrulla Aérea Civil Colombiana, Colombia
- Maria C. Mejia, Professor of Population Health, Florida Atlantic University, USA

- Luz Fernanda Sua Villegas, Professor, Fundación Valle de Lili, Colombia

Chaired by

- Luis Fernando Botero Gutiérrez, Plastic Surgeon, Quirófanos El Tesoro, Colombia

Building a World That Holds Together (Room 13)

The coming decades will test whether global systems can remain coherent amid accelerating change, competing interests, and growing complexity. Building tomorrow is not only about advancing faster, but about ensuring that economic, technological, and social systems remain compatible, legible, and capable of holding together over time. What makes a world resilient rather than brittle as pressures multiply? Which principles help societies design systems that endure stress without fragmenting?

- Cristina De Armas, Founder Chief Executive Officer, InspirandoT SAS BIC, Colombia
- Catalina Cock Duque, Co-Founder and President, Fundación Mi Sangre, Colombia
- Mauricio Goldstein, Partner, Holoflow, Brazil
- Juliana Gutierrez, Founder, Bioectur, Colombia

- Maria Luisa Zapata Trujillo, Director in Charge of International Relations, Comfama, Colombia

Chaired by

- Catherine Carlton, Council Member and Former Mayor, Menlo Park, USA

Building Tomorrow through Science Cooperation (Room 14)

Scientific cooperation offers opportunities to bridge geopolitical divides, address shared global challenges and build trust across borders. International research partnerships can accelerate breakthroughs in health, climate, energy and emerging technologies, while strengthening scientific capabilities and expanding access to knowledge worldwide. How can science cooperation foster dialogue and trust in an increasingly fragmented world? What new partnerships and institutional frameworks are needed to ensure that scientific progress benefits all countries and communities?

- Ana Inés Gómez de Castro, President of Division B, International Astronomical Union, Spain
- Raúl Eduardo Cardona, Mayor of Envigado, Colombia
- María Luisa Jaramillo, Executive President, Aburrá Sur Chamber of Commerce, Colombia

From 20:30 Closing Evening: Building What Comes Next, Together
(Gardens, Universidad de Medellín)

This special closing evening invites Horasis participants to experience Medellín through its vibrant creative culture. Bringing together Colombian cuisine and conversation with live music and dance, the evening will showcase the creativity and cultural energy of Medellín and Colombia. More than a traditional dinner, it will offer an inspiring finale to the Horasis Global Summit – celebrating the people, ideas and creative spirit that are building what comes next.

Friday, 13 November

10.00-13.00 City Tours

Participants are kindly requested to make their own way to the respective meeting points.

a) Exploring El Poblado

9.45: Meeting at Parque del Poblado, in front of the church San José (Calle 10 con carrera 43)

b) Exploring the Historic Centre of Medellín

9.45: Meeting at Parque de las Luces, in front of the Center La Alpujarra (Carrera 49 # 55-96)

Participants are invited to join one of two guided tours of Medellín, exploring either the historic centre or El Poblado. The tours offer insights into how Medellín has evolved into a global reference point for urban innovation, social transformation, and cultural vitality. Both tours include short walking segments at key sites, allowing participants to experience the city's distinctive atmosphere up close while engaging in informal conversations along the way.
